THEIR LOVERS.

"But married women, dear," she said, "are not exempt from scenes like these. True lovers vex you, heart and head, And quarrel on capricious pleas; And I thought long a wife, am yet By such sweet, charming lures beset."

"You think 'tis wicked, weak and wrong To let temptation lure me so? Ah, woman's heart is none too strong. My child, 'tis scarce three days ago That, sitting where you sit now, I heard a lover's prayer and vow."

"And—yes; he was a married man! At first I would not listen. Then He drew quite near me, and began To plead and pray. I snubbed him when He caught my hand? Well, no, dear May; I did not draw it quite away."

"I should have done so? But, you see He kissed me, and—that made me cry We'd quarreled terribly, and he Was dying to make up; and I said he was my lover! True! But then—he was my husband, too!"

—Madeline S. Bridges, in Judge.

A MYSTERIOUS FIND.

The Tragic Fate of a Party of Western Emigrants.

The Indians of the West were never so fierce and vindictive as after the close of the civil war. Beginning with the spring of 1866, there was a rush of emigrants into the new States and Territories, and about this time came reports of gold and silver in several localities. The Government pushed troops into new districts, established additional posts, and the red men saw the handwriting on the wall. He realized that he would be overrun unless the movement could be checked, and the various tribes buried their differences for the time being and united all their energies on the one object of driving the white man back. The number of emigrants, land brokers, prospectors and scouts killed between May, 1868, and the campaign which closed with Custer's death will never be known. It was impossible for any one to secure figures. Men were butchered singly, in pairs, and by fives and tens along a frontier a thousand miles in length, and not one case in ten was ever recorded in the public prints. It was the beginning of the end, and five years ago the power of the red man was broken, and he was compelled to yield to the inevitable.

I was sent to Fort Laramie, in Wyoming Territory, early in the summer of 1868, having accepted the position of Government scout, and I held that position all through the troubles of the next four years. It may be inferred, therefore, that I had my full share of close calls and narrow escapes. As soon as fresh troops arrived at that and other forts, and the work of subduing the Indians began in earnest, every redskin who could handle a gun was put into the field. Indeed, boys no more than twelve years of age, armed with bows and arrows, had the opportunity to show their mettle, and I knew of several fights in which the younger squaws took part. It was a case of do or die with the Indian, and he sacrificed his pride and his legends that he might hold his own against the white soldiers. I carried dispatches between Julesburg and Laramie, and between Laramie and Fort Tetterman, and outside of this accompanied detached bodies on expeditions or scouted on my own account. There was never a day of rest, and never a day when one felt sure that he would live to see the sun go down. Soldiers were killed within a mile of the gates of the fort, and the place was so constantly under surveillance that it was hardly possible to get in or out without being fired upon.

The strangest adventure of the whole war befell me in July, 1868, and there was a mystery connected with it which has not been solved to this day. I had been out with a detached command of 160 cavalry, which had scouted along the north fork of the Platte east from Laramie to the Copper mountains. These mountains are the beginning of the Black Hills chain. On the east side of the mountains we turned to the north, rode for two days, and the cavalry then made a halt for a day and retired to Julesburg. The object was to cover as much territory as possible and give the Indians no opportunity to show their mettle. I had to report to the commander of Fort Laramie, and instead of returning and ascending the Platte, I decided to try for a pass through the Copper mountains, my fellow scouts having told me that several existed. I left the cavalry camp soon after dark, it being about twenty miles east of the mountains. We had been dogged by Indians for two days, and I made my start at night to throw them off the scent. I had a jet black horse, speedy and intelligent, and the risk was not so great, provided I did not run into a small band by accident.

For the first two miles out of camp I walked my horse, both of us watching and listening. His senses were sharper than mine, and all of a sudden he came to a dead halt and pointed his nose to the west, like a dog flushing a bird. That meant danger. He had been trained down fine before I got him, and was to be depended on as much as if he could speak. I was no sooner off his back than he lay down, and I had scarcely crouched beside him when three Indians, mounted on ponies, appeared to the east, passed us to the right on a walk. The nearest one was not over ten feet away, and I plainly scented the tobacco from his pipe. The ground was broken, with masses of rock outcropping here and there, and it would have taken sharp eyes to detect us even at that short distance. I heard them stumble and mutter as they passed on, and not until ten minutes after the footprints of the ponies had died away in the distance did we rise and proceed. Had my horse been on the gallop, or had he been ten seconds

THE IVES TRIAL.

"Cliff Dwellers" Residences To Be Preserved.

The Governor of North Carolina Will Enforce the Law.

Even on Hand.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Ives was again early in Court this morning. The lateness of the session last night did not seem to have in any way interfered with him. The prosecution will try to finish their case to-night. The first witness was Henry McGowan, of the firm of Hellmar, McGowan & Co. On June 23d, 1888, witness arranged a loan for Henry S. Ives & Co. for 5,000 pounds sterling from Kuhn, Loeb & Co. The collateral received was 25,000 shares of C. H. & D. Common Stock. On cross-examination witness said he was a witness for the prosecution in Cincinnati at the request of Russell Sage, who held a loan of witness' firm. "Do you remember saying to Ives that you had to testify or old Sage would call in your loan which was part due?" counsel asked. "I don't remember."

"That loan is held over you yet is it not?"

"Yes."

Hellmar, McGowan's partner, testified that the loan was subsequently paid by Ives & Co.

Edward Burns, Cashier of the American Exchange National Bank, testified that his bank was the registrar of the stock of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road. He had a difficulty in forcing Ives & Co. to surrender the old certificates for collection after the new were issued to take their place.

Declines to Re-open.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The motion for a review of the decision rendered by Secretary Vilas in December, 1888, revoking the approved swamp land list known as No. 5, Lake View District, in the State of Oregon, Secretary Noble refused to re-open the case, holding that no great harm can result under the decision as made, and on contention of counsel for the State that the legal title to the land was by certification rested in the State, The Secretary says, without expressing an opinion, that conceding this to be correct, the Department is without jurisdiction to entertain the motion and the appeals of the State, and the whole question is remitted to the courts.

Yale Remembered.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 18.—The will of the late Professor Elias Loomis, made public yesterday, bequeaths the bulk of his estate, which is valued at $250,000, to Yale University. This is the second large gift ever made to Yale. After various small bequests the will provides that the bulk of the Professor's books and pamphlets, manuscripts, engravings, curiosities and household furnishings go to Henry R. Loomis, of Seattle, W. T. All of the remainder to Yale in trust. One third of the income from this trust to be given to Henry C. Loomis, of Seattle; one third to Francis E. Loomis, now traveling in Europe, and the other third to Yale Observatory.

The "Blacklegs" Retained.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Three thousand men assembled outside the Victoria docks this forenoon and demanded the dismissal of the "blacklegs." The company refused to grant their demands and the men are at work, guarded by the police.

The dock companies have sent a protest to Cardinal Manning and the Lord Mayor, pointing out the cases of violence on the part of the strikers and stating that a number are refusing to submit to the terms of the agreement. They ask the Cardinal and Lord Mayor to use their influence in the interest of peace.

Withdrawn From Disposal.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Secretary Noble has directed upon the recommendation of Inspector W. D. Harlan that section (?), township 36, north, range 17 west, New Mexico Meridian, State of Colorado, upon which the ruins of the former residences and mounds of the so-called "Cliff Dwellers" are located, be withdrawn from disposal until an examination of the same could be held, with a view to ascertaining their condition, and their historical value, and that steps be taken to protect the ruins from wrongful removal or destruction.

The Law to Be Enforced.

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 18.—Governor Fowle, in view of the lynching at Morganton last week, has issued a proclamation calling on the officers of the law to do their duty in bringing the perpetrators to justice.

Death of Col. Flournoy.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Colonel George Flournoy, the well-known lawyer of this city, died this afternoon. He has been troubled with Bright's disease and other complications for some time past, and his death was not unexpected.

A Non-Committal Official.

Boston, Sept. 18.—President Adams of the Union Pacific Railway states that he never heard of the newspapers' scheme for building his road to Southern California. As to the story of the Union Pacific wishing to secure an outlet to the Gulf via the Denver & Fort Worth road, Adams said: "I went there to look around, and people said I wanted to build a road there, but I have nothing to say about it."

Boston, Sept. 18.—Inquiry at the Union Pacific office develops the fact that the published story of the traffic agreement with the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba road by way of Duluth has no basis in fact. President Adams, while in Chicago, did have a conference with Hill of the Manitoba, but it was on another matter, and nothing whatever was talked about in relation to the traffic arrangement. Adams' visit to Texas was with a view to the consideration of the old question of the "Sunset Route"—water and land routes—which has been under consideration since the provisions of the inter-State commerce law went into effect. No project or scheme of any kind with a view to changing the Union Pacific and Northwestern traffic has as yet been under consideration. Adams' story of the union of the San Diego Eastern Terminal Company is also without a basis in fact. Union Pacific officials claim never to even heard of the scheme, and Adams is also said to be in the dark concerning it.

The project of pushing the line to Puget Sound, as reported from Portland, Oregon, is something for the future. It may be secured this year and it may not. The Union Pacific will sooner or later, it is stated, have its own line to that point.

Adams is reported as saying that the general business outlook through the West and Northwest is splendid, and that the prospect for earnings on all the U. P. lines is as good as could be desired. A statement of the Utah Central Railroad, for a new consolidation made public for the first time, shows surplus earnings over all fixed charges of $420,267.

The Cronin Case.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—The Cronin case was resumed this afternoon and the attempt to get a jury was continued. Frank Woodruff's attorney, applied to-day to have his client set at liberty. The statutory time within which he should be brought to trial has passed. The Judge declined to hear it on account of the lack of jurisdiction and the case will be laid before another judge to-morrow.

Quitting Down.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The work on the docks has assumed a normal aspect. Fewer non-Union men are employed, and many engaged to fill the places of the strikers are joining the Union. There has been no attack this morning upon the "blacklegs."

RELIEF FUND ROBBED

The Death of a Noted Musician.

A Heavy Frost Throughout the Northwest—No Damage to Corn.

Relief Fund Thieves.

PORTLAND, Or., Sept. 18.—A special dispatch from Spokane Falls, W. T., says a disgraceful exposure has just been made at Spokane Falls, which implicate two members of the Common Council of that city and the police officers. The names of the persons implicated are Sidney D. Waters, Peter Duober, Councilmen, and William Gillespie, a policeman. These men are charged with having formed a conspiracy to appropriate the funds and supplies furnished by contribution for the relief of those who suffered by the recent disastrous fire at Spokane several weeks ago. Robert Inglis was arrested at Chico, Cal., on a charge of having sold provisions and other supplies and appropriated the proceeds, having fled from Spokane Falls. On being brought back Inglis made the startling statement that a conspiracy existed among the officials and others for the appropriation of the relief supplies on a large scale. Inglis was examined and admitted to bail, but has since disappeared, the supposition being that he was bought off. A partial investigation was made that shows the several thousand dollars worth of goods has been stolen and converted into money. Waters, Duober and Gillespie were arrested yesterday and appeared before Justice Dunning, and their examination was set for Saturday. They were released on bonds of $1,000 each.

Last Night's Frost.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—The signal service report of temperatures indicate frost last night throughout Northern Kansas, Northern Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Nebraska, and points further North. The reports to the Associated Press are to the effect that corn is out of the way of frost and that little damage was done.

5 O'CLOCK EDITION.

COMMENTING upon the lessons taught concerning water supply and fire protection by the great fires of Seattle, Spokane and other towns, the Engineering and Mining Journal says:

No young community need be deterred from undertaking a thorough water works system on the score of expense or difficulty of obtaining the necessary technical information. A slight investigation into the matter will convince any one that the investment would be a good one and a very efficient form of insurance.

The above applies to Reno with equal force. That the town needs a more efficient water supply and a better organized fire department no one doubts for a minute. One of these days we shall be awakened by a peal from the fire bell and our town will be again laid waste unless we take steps to better our condition. It is getting the time of year now for fires, and if one ever breaks out on a windy day we are gone. Cannot something be done to better protect our people? Why delay the matter? Have we not had losses enough? Give us a fire department, one worthy the name and not trifle with the lives and property of the people any longer.

One thing that the revenue cutter Rush has brought to light is that there has been carried on in Behring Sea an enormous amount of very destructive, exterminating hunting among the seals and sea otters by both the English and American sailors and hunters. Not a poaching schooner has been seized that did not have on board hundreds of skins of seals and otters that have been illegally and wantonly destroyed. Add this illicit taking to the 200,000 skins that the Alaska company is authorized to take, and it will be no difficult task to calculate with reasonable accuracy the day and the hour when the seals and the otters will disappear from our waters entirely. The attitude of the United States in this matter is, therefore, in the interest of the perpetuation of the seal and the otter, while the position of the English and the Anglo-Americans of the New York Post and New York Times stripe is favorable to the total destruction of the fisheries.

THE reunion of Federal and ex-Confederate soldiers at Fort Worth, Texas, shows that the animosities engendered by the late war are gradually but surely being wiped out. This country is only large enough for that class of people who have the welfare of their Government at heart.

THE Japanese are learning how to eat meat. In 1884 only 30,000 head of cattle were slaughtered in all Japan. In 1885 the number increased to 116,000; in 1886, to 130,000; in 1888, to 200,000.

Dangerous Visitors.
The Sonora (Cal.) Independent of the 14th inst. says: Rattlesnakes are becoming very dangerous around town, being driven in for water. Last week several families were horrified to find rattlesnakes in their houses. A little baby who had been placed on the floor to play, was discovered by its mother toying with a large rattlesnake coiled up in a corner, ready at any instant to make a dart at the little innocent Johnny Gayno, who sleeps at the Sonora stables, was awakened one night by the presence of two rattlers in his room, forcing him to vacate.

Carload of Smyrna Figs.
The first carload of figs that ever was shipped to an Eastern market in the United States left Fresno, Cal., for Chicago Saturday. They were grown by Major M. Denicke in his orchard, two miles east of Fresno, and were of the White Smyrna variety. They were shipped in 25 and 50-pound bags and in boxes.

A Spotted Record.
Seven indictments have been brought at Tucson against T. L. Stiles, formerly of that city, for embezzlement while acting as assignee of Hudson & Co., bankers. Stiles is now a candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court of Washington Territory on the Republican ticket.

Raisins Thieves.
Scarcely a night passes at Fresno, Cal., but raisins are stolen from a dozen vineyards. The thieves take the raisins on the trays, load them into wagons and drive off and are soon lost in the darkness. There is talk of reorganizing the vigilantes.

NEW SPORTING PARLOR.

The Wine House Opened Saturday in a Blaze of Glory.
Last Saturday evening over head the Wine House saloon, was opened one of the finest sporting parlors in the State of Nevada, if not west of Omaha to the Sierras.

For weeks past the enterprising proprietor of the premises, Spiro Franchovich, has been sparing neither time, labor nor lavish expenditure of capital. At great expense the roof has been raised over twenty feet and a solid upper story constructed, which is now fully finished and decorated in the interior, with a commodious stairway leading up from the front of the saloon, conveniently adjacent to the main entrance. The upper story comprises one elegant, roomy apartment 25x60 feet in dimensions, abundantly lighted and ventilated by numerous spacious windows and doors, all guarded by solid fireproof shutters. The apartment is hard-finished throughout and most tastefully wainscoted in various-colored California natural woods, handsomely polished to bring out their beautiful color contrasts; and at night will be a blaze of light from the myriad of gas jets and electric lamps adorning the room.

These handsome sporting parlors were opened last Saturday under the auspices of those two old veterans of the sporting fraternity, Uncle Joe Stewart, whose name and word is a passport and bond in every city and hamlet on the coast, and Col. John Daniels (Kentucky), one of the oldest and best known knights of the green table in the State. Their names alone are a host in themselves and will attract an army of old acquaintances as well as be a guarantee that the Wine House Sporting Parlor will be conducted in a first-class and most reputable style.

Poisoned by Fly Paper.
A Chinese cook on a ranch in the vicinity of Butte City, Colusa county, Cal., recently baked a cake, using, probably by mistake, a sheet of fly-paper under the cake in baking. The entire family, hired man and all, were poisoned by the eating of it, although none of the cases were fatal.

A Barefooted Cadet.
General Mahone of Virginia is the son of a tavern-keeper. He walked barefooted to Richmond to secure the Governor's aid to enter the Virginia Military Institute. While there he was twitted with being a "poverty pupil."

Fears a Comparison.
Charles Dickens has a long novel in manuscript which he has never had the courage to publish. He realizes that his work would be compared with his father's, and he does not dare to brave the test.

The Home Destroyed.
Chief Justice Fuller, who is about to re-establish his old home in Chicago, says: "Washington is a pleasant place, but it is so full of official life that the domesticity of the home is destroyed."

USE OF THE GROWL.

"What are you growling at, sir?"
"At the amount you are eating, sir. Have you no regard for the feelings of a dyspeptic, sir?"

"No sir! Go and take a course of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla and you won't have the dyspepsia, sir!"
John Argall, of 628 Golden Gate avenue, writes: "You may also use my name as an additional authority that 'The California Remedy' Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, will cure dyspepsia and liver and kidney complaints."

James Wells, Oakland, Cal., writes: "I suffered acutely from dyspepsia for years, scarcely taking a meal without the distressing pains of indigestion. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla relieved me of it entirely."

It should be generally known that Dr. Henr. J. Dandelion Tonic insures a hearty appetite and increased digestion, dispels nervous depression and low spirits, overcomes lack of energy and weakness, and will infuse new life and strength into the weakest and ailing. Sold by William Pinniger.

Staple and Fancy Dry Goods

Gents' Furnishings, Household Furnishings,

Ready Made Clothing

And Boots and Shoes.

Please note the various reasons by which I claim I have advantages over all competing houses.

1st. I buy for cash and cash only.

2d. I visit the markets in person frequently and buy my own goods myself for the lowest possible spot cash price.

3d. My aim and ambition is big business, quick sales and small profits. This is what I claim and what I hustle for. Having this object in view to give everybody good value for their money, success is already achieved, as I challenge any one to dispute that I make the lowest prices.

4th. My store is the largest and best lighted of any in the city—the three large plate glass show windows which ornament the building would do credit to any large store in a large Eastern city, light being of great importance in any well regulated store.

5th. I engage the best and most experienced and skilled salesmen that can be found in this country. W. R. Lett has full charge of my store; his experience is second to none in this country, having had charge of departments for many years in the leading houses of New York City.

6th. I do just as I advertise; I do not advertise my goods at cost, as no intelligent person could swallow so silly an announcement as that; nevertheless, many of our merchants of to-day advertise under the head of selling goods at cost.

7th. All goods are marked in plain figures and no goods are misrepresented.

Having now given seven reasons why I can lead all competing houses in prices, I will venture still further to convince the general public by mentioning the contents of the different departments, thus showing that I carry an enormous and well-selected stock, which can only be fully realized by calling and examining the goods of the different departments.

In the Colored Dress Goods Department

I keep all the leading shades in plain colors, including Fine French Cashmeres, French Camel's Hair, Beatrice Cloths, French Foulle, Tricot Cloths, Tricotine Cloths, Albatros, Nuns' Veiling, French Debeiges, Fancy Striped Alpaca, in plaids and stripes. I keep all the leading patterns found in the market.

The Black Goods Department

Is well stocked with all the latest and best known brands of French Cashmere, French Camel's Hair, French Soliel, Albatros, Nuns' Veiling, Sicilian Cloths, and all the leading brands of Black Alpaca, Black and Colored Silks in all the different makes.

The Corset Department

Receives special attention, as I carry all the leading makes, including the famous C. P. Corset, and also the P. D., which I sell at prices that defy competition.

The Kid Glove and Button Department

Are replete with all the shades that can possibly be obtained this side of the Rocky Mountains.

The Hosiery Department

Deserves special mention, as I have been supplying it during the past two weeks with the very best brands of Ladies' Cotton and also Wool Hosiery that are manufactured on this Coast. My stock of Ladies' Misses' Children's and Men's Hosiery is unsurpassed in the city. Passing on we come to

Shoe Department.

This is a special branch that I have added to my business by special request of my customers, who continually urged me to put in a stock of Boots and Shoes, claiming, as they said—I using their own language—they were tired of paying high prices any longer. I subsequently added the above stock, and will say that my success in that department has superseded all my expectations. Men's and Boys' Shoes a specialty. Men's Shoes from $2.50 up.

In the Clothing Department

I cannot do it justice by venturing to describe the success that continually attends it. I can only add one passing remark, that the amount of clothing I have sold during the past year is a just guarantee that the public never fail to appreciate a ONE PRICE cash business. I sell good suits for men from $5.00 up.

In the Underwear Department,

Including Ladies' and Gents', I positively state that I sold more of these goods last season than any two competing houses. Knowing this, and then looking forward for an enormously increased trade in this line this coming Fall and Winter, I have spared no pains and have left nothing undone to secure one of the best selected and largest stock of Underwear ever brought to Reno. This true assertion will be more forcibly strengthened by anyone doubting it to call and examine the stock.

In the Domestic Department

I carry all the principal makes in Sheetings, Pillowcase Muslins, etc. Gingham and Calicoes in endless variety.

Thanking the people of Reno and the public in general for their kind patronage for the past year, and soliciting a continuance of the same, I remain, respectfully,

C. W. BOOTON,

A Valuable Invention.

It is said that the Secretary of War at Washington recently became so greatly impressed with the value of an original invention (an instrument known as the "hitch lock"), that at his special request it was hurried through the patent office. Its importance lies in the use to which the Government can apply it. Attached to a telegraph line, any electric message can be sent over the wire to its destination without being heard at intervening stations, and Government secrets cannot be intercepted.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Belleville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half a dollar a bottle, at S. J. Hodgkinson's drugstore.

Proving Too Much.

There is a prevailing belief in Turlock, Cal., that the defense in the suit of ex-Sheriff Fulkert against S. L. Hanscom of the Modesto Herald for libel will prove the truth of the newspaper's statements. Saturday the testimony showing fraud and corruption created much excitement.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought at a cost of $100 of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle was miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. — Get a free trial bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

Burned to Death.

At Pine Flat, Cal., about twelve miles from the Sonoma county geysers, a Mrs. Day was burned to death in her house Saturday. The flames were communicated from the dry grass, which was fired in some unknown way.

Parents should be careful that their children do not contract colds during the fall and early winter months. Such colds weaken the lungs and air passages, making the child much more likely to contract other colds during the winter. It is this succession of colds that causes catarrh and bronchitis of the pass, the way for consumption. Should a cold be contracted less than one but cure it as quickly as possible. A fifty cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure any cold in a few days and leave the respiratory organs strong and healthy. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

Oregon is one of the most productive States in the Union. Its vast mineral regions contain gold, silver, copper, iron and coal. An immense tract of grazing lands support thousands of cattle and sheep, and its extensive agricultural regions produce all the cereals in abundance, the yield per acre being in some instances, the largest in the world. Among the useful and valuable products of the Willamette State may be mentioned Oregon Kidney Tea, which has proved a boon to thousands afflicted with pain in the back and kidney difficulties. Its purely vegetable composition and never fails. Sold by William Plummer.

This is the season of the year when the raw, cold winds create and have with the hands and complexion. Soft, white hands and a clear "peachy" complexion can be assuredly preserved by the frequent application of Duard's Specific. If rubbed into the skin it leaves no greasy surface. The skin becomes it. Sold by William Plummer.

ANSWER TO IRRIGATOR.

Who Compose the Donner Boom Company.

EDITOR GAZETTE: In answer to "Irrigator's" question as to whether Washoe county's Commissioners could not give a charter to citizens of Reno to control the outlet to Lake Tahoe as easily and effectually as the State of California can to its citizens, let me say, in order to throw that much light on the subject, that Lake Tahoe's outlet into the Truckee river is on the northwest quarter of section 7 in township 15 north, range 16 east, which has 118 acres out of the lake. This land is owned by the Donner Boom Company, a corporation which bought the land of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, and have put in a wooden dam, with gates to regulate the flow of the Truckee river. If this land could be bought it would give an opportunity to regulate the water in a very satisfactory way, provided enough fell to raise the lake. I think "Irrigator" is right about being able to raise the lake three feet on an average. The water-shed is about five miles wide on the east, north and west sides, and about ten on the south, making perhaps, 400 square miles of surface, including the lake. This mostly lies in the great snow belt, with an enormous annual deposit, and the lake would doubtless get enough of it to raise it several feet on any average year. I might say to any one who desired to look into the matter that W. E. Brown of the Railroad Company's office is President of the Donner Boom Company, and the stockholders are almost all in the railroad building in San Francisco. In answer to inquiries as to their price for the land, they always refuse to make a figure, claiming that they must wait and see what is best to do when the result of the Government surveys is known. The matter is certainly worth looking into by our Washoe county citizens. It might be well in the first place to consult a good lawyer and a good engineer and see just how much benefit the ownership would be to any one. A. B. C. Reno, Nev., Sept. 17, 1889.

A STRONG NINE.

The Carson Club To Be Greatly Strengthened.

The Carson Tribune says: Interest in baseball has been revived and Carson is going to have a club that can cope with the best amateur organizations on the coast. The Carson club, being weak in the box this year, did not feel sufficiently strong to cope with the Comstock, Truckee and Hawthorne clubs. Learning that Messrs. Johnson (pitcher), Land (catcher) and Gad (first base) of the Truckee club were willing to locate in Carson providing they were guaranteed employment, some of our baseball enthusiasts got together last evening and sent word to the boys to come at once to the Capital. This acquisition will place the Carson club on an equal footing with the other clubs of the State, and some interesting games may be expected. Now for a baseball tournament at the District Fair. It would attract thousands of people to the Capital.

THE COMBINATION SALE.

Great Preparations for a Great Sale of Nevada Productions.

The great combination sale which takes place the first day of Fair week promises to be a drawing card. There will be offered for sale lots of Norfolk, Joe Hooker, Jumbo, the sire of Perry Green and several other fast ones, besides Gibraltar and Bonner colts, and it will give stockmen a chance to get most any kind they want. Besides horses there will be offered for sale Holstein, Durham, Polled Angus and Hereford cattle in endless variety. Lawrence Frey of Genoa will be here with several head of heavy young work horses, which will be sold to the highest bidder for cash. Parties having stock for sale would do well to communicate with Secretary Stoddard at once.

The Bridge Completed.

Yesterday at 2 P. M. the first train passed over the new bridge at Cascade, and at 5:45 the first through east-bound passenger train arrived at Reno, followed 30 minutes later by another and by a third one 45 minutes behind that one. All passenger trains arrived about on time this morning, and in a few days the freight business will be regulated.

A Divorce Suit.

The San Francisco Examiner of the 3d inst. contained the following notice of a preacher-painter-hornblower who is pretty well known in Reno: Jean Tippet has sued Thomas E. Tippet for a divorce on the ground that he, after a long absence, has returned to Oakland and now avoids her and refuses to see her.

Board of Equalization.

OFFICE OF THE COUNTY CLERK.
WASHOE COUNTY, NEVADA.
RENO, NEVADA, Sept. 19, 1889.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE County Assessor of Washoe County, Nevada, has completed the tax list or assessment roll for A. D. 1889, and has duly attached his certificate thereto and the map books and all original lists of property given to him, to the Clerk of the Board of County Commissioners, that the Board of County Commissioners will meet on Monday, September 16, 1889.

As a Board of Equalization, and will hear and determine all complaints made in regard to the assessed value of any property within said county, and will change and correct any valuation, either by adding thereto or deducting therefrom, if they deem the same fixed in the Assessment Roll either above or below the true value, whether said sum was fixed by the owner or Assessor, except that in cases where the person complaining of the assessment has refused to give the Assessor his list under oath as required by law. In such cases no reduction will be made by the Board of Equalization in the assessment made by the Assessor.

THE BEST AND MOST SATISFACTORY JOB WORK AT THE GAZETTE OFFICE

later in discovering the redskins, I might not have got away.

Half an hour after daylight, having met with no further adventure, I was at the base of the mountains, striking the range at a place which has since been named Crook's Pass. I had little fear of finding Indians in the mountains, unless it was a body passing through the gap. As soon as I was secure from the prairie I made a fire, got ready my coffee, and rested for two hours. Then I set out to reach the other side of the range, where I would either stay until night or push on for Laramee, according as the signs indicated. The pass for the first half mile was fair enough for a wagon. After that it was scarcely possible for a saddle horse to make his way. It was difficult to tell which was the main pass and which the branches, and when about half way over the mountain I came to a spot where I was completely stuck. The pass I had been following was now split into three, each one seeming to be the main pass, and as there was nothing to guide me, I had to take one of them at a venture. If it was not the right one, I must return and take another. I went to the left, and after going a few rods, found the pass or cut-over grown with bushes, and the surrounding fall of rock made it impossible to pass. I was twenty feet high, twisting about like a creek, but gradually leading upward. The height of the bank on each side was from fifty to two hundred feet, and the mountain was so densely wooded that the path was in semi-darkness.

I got my horse over the obstructions which blocked the way and proceeded on for half a mile without finding any great change in the general character of the pass. Then it suddenly seemed to me that the path had been cut into a cove of about two acres in extent, which nature had so walled in that the most agile Indian would have been put to his trumps to find a spot where the wall could be scaled. It would have been more like a deep ravine, and the surrounding hills had the cove been full of water, as small lakes of that kind are frequently found in the mountains, but it was not only solid earth, but so fertile that the sweet grass was knee high and there were flowers without number. Before setting foot on the grass I saw that the end of the road I had followed, and that I must return. I decided to let the horse graze for awhile, however, and it was only after he had turned him loose that I caught sight of what appeared to be six emigrant wagons standing against the further wall. I did not say of their character until I had made half the distance, and it was only when I got close up that I discovered why they looked so queer. Their canvas tops had turned black and rotted away, and were now in rags and streaming out in the breeze. The wooden work of the wagons had turned gray, the tires of the wheels had rusted until the iron was almost eaten away, and when I took hold of the hind wheel of one of the vehicles and gave it a shake the spokes fell and the wagon came crashing down amid a cloud of dust.

There was something so gruesome and mysterious in my find that I wanted to run away. I should have been no more surprised to find a steamboat resting there. No emigrant had dared penetrate so far into the Indian country in that direction, and it was far away from the overland trail to California. The presence of those wagons meant a tragedy, and I was loth to begin an investigation. I walked about the cove seeking to brace my courage, and a few yards beyond the wagons I came upon a heap of bones which I knew to have belonged to horses or cattle. A bit further on a huge fire-place had been constructed of loose stones against the face of a cliff, and the smoke had blackened the wall for a distance of forty feet from the ground. There was no sign of the presence of a human being. It had been a long time since the last fire was built, as the grass was growing among the ashes and embers. The key to the mystery must be hidden in the wagons, and I returned to overhaul them. You can hardly realize the enormous look of those vehicles. They were standing one behind the other as closely as they could be drawn, and the sight of them was proof that years had gone by since they were parked there. I should say that it would take ten or twelve years to bring about such decay as I saw in them. They were large and heavy, made of the best material, and yet a shake would have brought any of them to the ground.

I began with the first wagon, and I can easily recall the contents of each. The first wagon was piled high with harnesses, or the remains of them. Time and decay had left little except the buckles, and they were badly rusted. I should say the heap contained the harnesses of at least a dozen teams. In the second wagon were a chest, two iron kettles, a jug and a heap of mold which probably represented clothing. I hauled the chest out and kicked it apart, but the contents had gone to mold, except in the case of fifty Mexican silver dollars, which had probably been in a buckskin bag. The third wagon also held a chest, but I found nothing of value in it. I found in this wagon the rusted remains of several picks and shovels and heaps of mold which represented either clothing or provisions. The fourth wagon was empty. The fifth contained picks and shovels and a rough wooden box. From this box I recovered a small one made of tin, and I broke that open to find $40 in State bank bills, a rude map evidently representing the Copper mountains and neighborhood, and four five-dollar American gold pieces.

The fifth wagon had evidently been stored with provisions, but nothing but rotting mold. In the sixth were three chests, two shovels, three picks, the barrel of a rifle, a rusty axe, and a keg which had held whisky. In one of the three big boxes I found a silver tobacco box containing sixty dollars in Mexican gold and a note describing it. It had been written on heavy paper and with good ink, but some of the words had faded entirely away and others had to be guessed. The following is the copy I made of it upon my return to Fort Laramee:

"There will be about twenty, and in you should have precautions. Have Captain Jim see that the powder and lead are three months or more. Same general direction. Shall expect from man must act for. The letter was unsigned, and so much of it was illegible that we could only guess at the general tenor. There had been a private expedition from Kansas years before. The party had the horses and the Indian valley. They had killed a portion, if not all their live stock for food. Then the men had departed, but never one had returned to civilization to tell the tale. All may have been wiped out in the main pass or at the base of the mountain, or some may have died in the canyon. Had the Indians ever found the wagons they would have plundered and burned them. The fact that they had not only deepened the mystery. I had notice of the discovery published far and wide in the West, and on two occasions guided parties to the spot that further examination might be made, but to this day the fate of those people is a mystery.—N. Y. Sun.

A Change For the Better.

Change is one of the irresistible and fortunately the change is almost invariably for the better. As an instance of this, St. Patrick's pills are fast taking the place of the old harsh and violent cathartics, because they are milder and produce a pleasant effect, besides they are much more beneficial in removing morbid matter from the system and preventing ague and other malarious diseases. As cathartic and liver pill they are always perfect. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.
